FAQs

Can my student have the same tutor each session?

Yes, Cignition offers plans that allow your student to exclusively work with the same tutor each session.

How much time will my student spend tutoring each session?

Session length depends on you and your student's needs. We offer 30, 45, and 60 minute sessions, once or several times per week.

Can I cancel my plan at any time?

All plans can be changed or canceled at any time with multi-session plan cancellations resulting in a prorated refund of your remaining session.

How do I monitor my student's progress?

We will provide detailed feedback upon completion of the first session and information on creating a tutoring plan that works for your student's needs. After that, you will get regular updates from us on how they're doing.

I believe my child might be a bit behind in math/reading. Does it matter if their current grade placement may not align with their achievement in those subjects?

During the evaluation and first session, Cignition will determine where your child is and the best place to start, regardless of their current grade level.

How quickly can my student get started with their first session?
